My New Economy Shall Arise, Says The LORD

"Those who control the economies of the world – My evil bankers – shall endure eternal punishment. Did I not say to give it all away? Then why do they still acquire more, My son? Away with My evil bankers, for money shall be gone in an instant, and avarice and greed shall be no more, for there shall be no more money to be greedy for, for it shall lie on the ground in worthless piles, My son. Smelling of sin, My money shall no longer power the economies of the world, and My men of greed shall acquire no more, for money truly is sin, it is satanic power, infested with the spirits of worldly ambition and lust and greed. No longer will men lust after more and more and more, for I will take it away, and a new economy shall begin, one based on My righteousness of giving, not on the satanic power of the enemy. For I Am at the heart of giving, not taking, that's why money shall be scarce in the Earth because men will not need it anymore! Your LORD has spoken. Amen and amen."
